

Susan and Ron:

Just a note to thank you for helping us out with a good bit of the training at the retrieve seminar, and at the "advanced" seminar in New Jersey. You both have been just fantastic representatives of the remote training. Obviously, the success of your business shows the great understanding that you have of the training system.

I also really enjoyed stopping by your place, and helping the two of you with your clients for the day. Robin and I are both really proud of the tremendous work that you do, and just wanted to personally thank you for always being such great representatives of the "No Limitations" program with the results that you get, and with your professionalism.

Keep up the great work!!!

Fred Hassen

Professional Dog Trainer Sit Means Sit

Fred Hassen is a professional dog trainer, owner of Sit Means Sit, a remote collar dog training company with locations in Las Vegas and San Diego. He is also the owner of the No Limitations School for Remote Collar Trainers with locations in Las Vegas and Wisconsin. Mr. Hassen is most famous for developing the technique of training dogs using the remote collar as a motivation. Fred Hassen has a local T.V. show and will have a radio program beginning in early 2004. His accomplishments and talents in dog training range from pet dogs to obedience competitions to instructing police department on how to better control their dogs.