

December 21, 2005

The Dog Training Company, Inc.
Southampton, N.J.

Dear Ron & Sue,

As you know my family will soon be relocating, and along with us will go Shane. For anyone reading this letter who is not familiar with Shane, allow me to recount his brief history. We rescued him from the local shelter, where he'd been surrendered for aggressive behavior. Although he has shown nothing but affection for us, he had exhibited unpredictable behavior towards others. It was clear that he needed strong training. Shane is a powerful two and half year old, male German Shepperd, with strong protective instincts, and who knows what kind of behavior was encouraged in his previous home.

After a lot of research and several visits to different schools, we decided that The Dog Training Company was the right place for him. The difference in his temperment is remarkable. He's now a well adjusted, playful companion. He is well socialized and obedient, yet he still has all of his personality. If anyone is looking for a great place to train their dog, and not worry about having the animal's "head shrunken", then The Dog Training School is the place for you and your pet.

Best regards,
Jerry & Susan